

Guidelines for Marketing Assistance under Scheme for Assistance for Startup/Innovation – 2015

- Guidelines for Marketing Assistance:

- The assistance for Marketing Assistance usage is upto Rs. 10.00 Lacs which amount is paid to Nodal Institutions
- The Nodal Institution must maintain a record of the amount spent by the innovator for product development
- Product development has to at least reach minimum viable product in order to apply for marketing expense approval.
- Marketing expenses incurred before formal written approval of marketing expense, which has not been expensed under product development, can be expensed after approval of marketing expense
- Marketing expenses incurred after approval of marketing expense under the respective categories can be routinely expensed. Similar to product development there is no hard cap on expenses in any of the marketing categories.
- Marketing assistance is one-time assistance given to any approved startup through Nodal Institution
- An annual audit report must be forwarded by the Nodal Institution to the Office of Industries Commissioner

Broad sectors which can be covered are as follows:

- Print, Electronic, Radio Media:

The most common expense associated with marketing is the cost of placing ads in print media, such as newspapers and magazines, electronic and radio media.

- Social Media and Website:

Social media and online advertising are typically the cheapest forms of advertising. Once a website for a company is created, the month-to-month maintenance of it is relatively inexpensive, unless a complete overhaul is required. Social media is one of the newest forms of advertising and can be quite cheap in comparison to print media.

- Consultancy Expenses:

The salaries of marketing department and consultancy expense must be considered as marketing expense. If there are several members of a marketing department, such as a content manager, graphic designer and social media manager, the overhead can become extensive.

- Research and Surveys:

Market research takes time and energy. Industry magazines, publications and websites must be subscribed in order to stay on top of frequent market updates. Additionally, many companies survey the potential and current customers in order to be sure that their marketing efforts are working. The surveys are typically outsourced to industry experts to avoid the extreme time and effort that a good survey takes on a marketing staff.

A tentative list of components covered under marketing assistance.

1. Out of home Media - marketing to people in public places, hoardings
2. Sales Promotion Expenses
3. Publicity Material Expenses
4. Sales Salaries Expenses(treated as consultancy fees)
5. Marketing Services Expenses(treated as consultancy fees)
6. Newspaper Advertising Expense
7. Radio Advertising Expense
8. Magazine Advertising Expense
9. Television Advertising Expense
10. Billboard Advertising Expense
11. Correspondence Expense
12. Printing of Business Card Expense
13. Coupon Development Expense
14. Direct Mail Expense
15. Brochure Printing Expense
16. Pamphlet Printing Expense
17. Other Promotional Item
18. Telemarketing - calling people on the phone with a pitch, usually uninvited
19. Campus marketing - marketing to (and often by) college students, campus ambassadors
20. Catalog marketing — marketing through printed catalogs delivered in the mail
21. Celebrity marketing — use of celebrities as spokespeople, for endorsements or testimonials
22. Data (web) marketing - using data as a marketing channel
23. Informational marketing - providing useful/educational material to nurture audience
24. In-store marketing — promotions based at a retailer's location
25. Long Tail marketing — marketing to many niche segments that aggregate to a huge audience
26. Niche marketing — targeting very specific audience segments

27. Search (engine) marketing — organic and paid promotion via Google, Bing, etc
28. Self-marketing — marketing yourself, also known as personal branding
29. Sports marketing — use of sporting events, teams, and athletes to promote products
30. Video marketing — incorporating videos in online marketing, leveraging YouTube
31. Trade show marketing — subset of event marketing, exhibiting and promoting at trade shows
32. Youth marketing — targeting young audiences, often using emerging channels

Modification of Terms & Conditions:

- The above terms and conditions may be modified by the Office of Industries Commissioner through mutual agreement.
- Industries Commissionerate has tried to follow the good practices and guidelines; in case of a conflict of interest the guidelines espoused by Office of Industries Commissioner shall hold.